

The roles and responsibilities of a DPO

Training organisations employees on data processing

Supporting business' operation and data handling

Ensuring that due diligence is in place

Carrying out regular audits and assessments

Providing support
to management

Providing advice and guidance for DPIAs

Being a point of contact

Maintaining
comprehensive records

The responsibilities of a Data Protection Officer (DPO) are significant, bound by regulation and require the post-holder to maintain an appropriate level of expertise.

www.dbxuk.com/dpo-training info@dbxuk.com Tel: 01235 838507

dbxuk.com

databasix
bringing people and data together